

Abstract

The invention describes the synthetic methods for a series of pH-sensitive cationic lipids with diamido linkages between the 1,2-diamino-3-propanol backbone and the hydrocarbon chains. Their in vitro biological activity of the resulting lipid-DNA complexes is also described.